We want to thank you for your contribution to the development of LEED v4. With the ballot only four months away, we are taking every moment to make sure the rating systems are fully usable and the program has been thoroughly tested.

The last step in the development process is one final public comment period, open March 1 – March 31, 2013. This comment period will focus on refinement (both in the credit language and in calculations) and provides the public with one last chance to give feedback on the system before the member vote in June.

Visit usgbc.org/leedv4 during March to view the changes and participate in the comment period.

Remember, your membership needs to be current by March 1, 2013 in order to vote during the ballot period. Not sure if your membership is current? View your membership status >
