Did you know that Americans spend 90% of their time inside buildings?

The health and performance of our buildings and communities has a lasting impact on our quality of life, and USGBC believes in green buildings and communities for all.

The Greenbuild International Conference & Expo is an unparalleled event that brings together the people and products that are driving the green building movement.

In order to engage and inspire new audiences, USGBC is providing all-expense paid trips to Greenbuild 2013 in Philadelphia from Nov. 19-22. Learn more »

We seek students, emerging professionals, faith leaders, community developers and non-traditional professionals to apply for this year's scholarships.

Preference is given to those with a demonstrated need, who represent under-served people and communities, and who have the drive to push the USGBC vision forward in their community.

We want to see you at Greenbuild. Apply for a scholarship today!
