“We are committed to creating workplaces that are exceptional – healthier, safer, and more productive. Sustainability is a critical part of this mission. Our association with USGBC helps us deliver sustainable solutions to our customers through the enablement of LEED certification and the education of green building tactics.”

- Iris Schumacher, N.A. Sustainability Leader

When you partner with KIMBERLY-CLARK PROFESSIONAL*, we help your business make decisions about the products you choose, the resources you use, and the impact you have. Identifying opportunities to reduce impact helps use less of the world's natural resources, leaving more for the future – for our children, for the planet, for our businesses. Sustainability at Kimberly-Clark goes far beyond our operational footprint. We take a broader view of our responsibilities across the value chain, reaching back into our supply chain as well as forward into our customers' operations as we help them create their own Exceptional Workplaces*.

Our commitment to making your business more sustainable starts with the products we make. That's why we continually work to reduce the environmental impacts of our products at all stages of the lifecycle – from raw materials through ultimate disposal. We call this approach: Reduce Today, Respect Tomorrow*.

Kimberly-Clark is a signatory to the United Nations Global Compact, was rated as one of the World's Most Ethical Companies in 2012, was ranked as one of the “World's 25 Best Multinational Workplaces” in 2011, and received a 2012 Circle of Excellence award from DBMA.
